I know plenty of people who have imported used newer cars, as depreciation for cars in the US is worse.

Global banks had significant advantages over local banks in terms of intellectual property and (sometimes) capital resources.

However, Ecuador's driving laws are few and rarely (if ever) enforced.

"A lot of guys, you'd be surprised, are going through what I'm going through and don't admit it."